Ruling Generals Pledge Elections For Viet Nam

B52s Bomb In Red Viet Nam For 1st Time

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U. S. Air Force B52s struck North Viet Nam today for the first time, pouring their big bombs on the Mu Gia Pass, a funnel for men and arms to the south.

The escalation of the air war against the Communist north came after more than 200 raids by the eight-engine bombers on Viet Cong targets in South Viet Nam.

The U.S. spokesman did not explain why the decision had been made to send the Guam-based bombers north. But it is known the U.S. Military Command is highly pleased with the saturation bombings in the south, both as a military weapon against underground Viet Cong positions and as a psychological weapon against enemy morale.

Surprise Attacks

Flying over the weather at 40,000 feet, the B52s usually strike in waves of 10 planes. They can't be heard from the ground, and the enemy doesn't know he is being attacked until the bombs come tumbling down on him.

The multimillion-dollar bombers, pride of the Strategic Air Command, were designed originally to carry nuclear weapons for massive retaliation against an aggressor before the development of accurate ocean-spanning intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Pleased with their successful use in a guerrilla war, the Defense Department recently embarked on a program of modification expanding the payload of the bombers from 38,250 pounds to 60,000 pounds. They will be able to carry 84 of the 500-pound bombs inside and 24 of the 750-pound bombs under their wings.

The Defense Department acknowledged in Washington that the U.S. air war in the south had been temporarily curtailed because of a shortage of bombs.

Assistant Secretary of Defense Arthur S. Sylvester said that the political troubles in Da Nang had forced the diversion of ships with ordnance to other unloading areas.

Sylvester also said another factor in the "temporary reduction in sorties within South Viet Nam" was that the South Vietnamese "are mounting fewer attacks requiring air support."

This also seems due to the political situation. A U.S. spokesman in Saigon reported Monday that American planes carried out 300 missions over South Viet Nam Sunday compared with the usual total of 450-500.

Immolation Try A Hoax

NEW YORK (AP) — Arthur Zimmer, 20, says a gasoline dousing was as far as he planned to go when he appeared in front of the White House with fuel and matches after threatening to set himself on fire.

"I had no intention of burning myself," he said Monday. "It was a publicity stunt."

He planned the hoax, he said, to dramatize his opposition to U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

Zimmer, a Boston University student, was grabbed in front of the White House Sunday by detectives as he poured gasoline on himself from a plastic bottle.

Copper Report Delays Trade In C&H Stock

NEW YORK (AP) — Trading in the common stock of Calumet & Hecla, Inc., was delayed again today on the New York Stock Exchange.

The stock was last traded last Wednesday, when it closed at $38.50 a share.

The company announced discovery of a 35-million-ton ore body in Michigan and orders to buy the stock flooded in.

The exchange delayed trading Thursday because the specialist handling the issue could not set bid and asked prices. It failed to open Monday also.

C. C. Jung, chairman of Calumet & Hecla, said that although his firm knows that it has the ore body, a study is being made of the feasibility of mining it profitably. He added the company's geology department is confident this can be done.

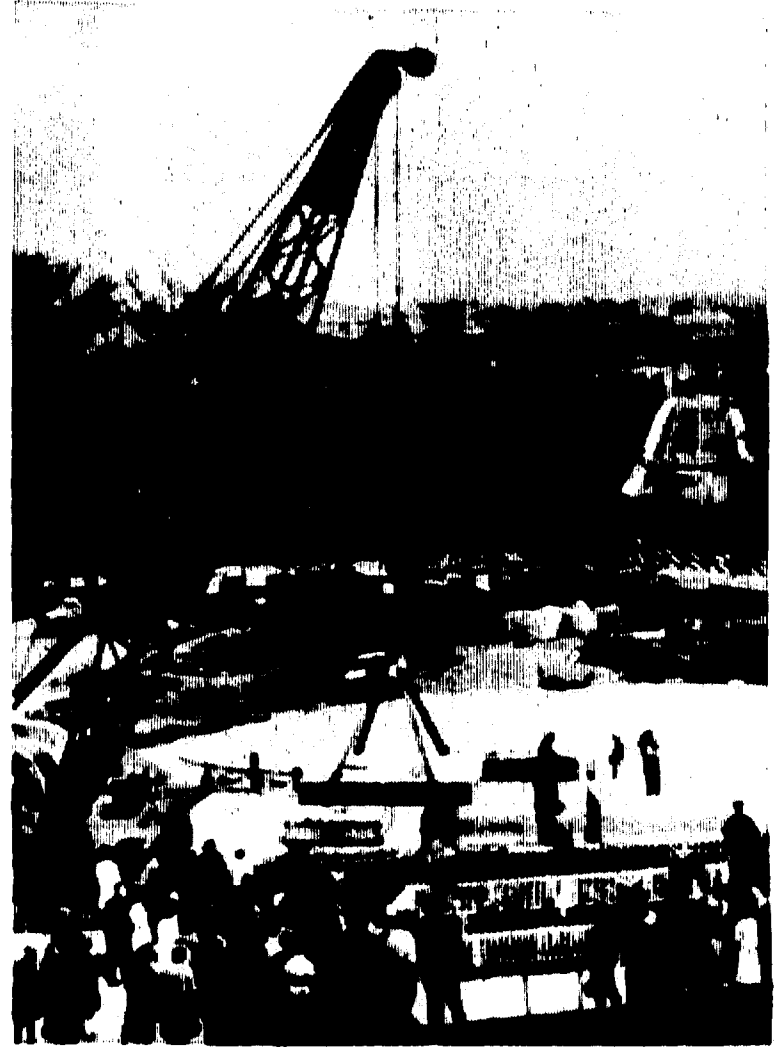

The extended delay in trading the stock was, as far as anyone could tell, unprecedented.

Walters Peck & Co. is the specialist handling the market in Calumet & Hecla stock. It has instructed its office staff to refer all inquiries on Calumet & Hecla to the exchange.

No Extension For Tax Return

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tax payers won't get an extension this year of the April 15 deadline for filing their individual income tax returns, the Internal Revenue Service said today.

Friday, April 15 is a regular business day, an IRS spokesman said. He added the only time the deadline is extended is when April 15 falls on a Saturday, Sunday or a legal holiday.

Junta Fighting To Hold Power, Say Buddhists

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam's military government pledged today to hold elections as soon as a constitution is drafted and the election machinery set up. But the Buddhist opposition cold-shouldered the preparatory congress at which the offer was made.

Addressing an assemblage of representatives the junta had convened from throughout the nation to start progress toward civilian rule, the chief of state, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, declared the ruling generals want to turn over power to civilians "in the shortest time possible."

Informed Vietnamese sources said this could be within a month or two depending on how long it takes to write a constitution and create the election machinery.

Suggest Formula

"The military does not want to cling to power," said Thieu. With Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and four other members of the 10-man ruling directorate attending, Thieu suggested a possible formula for a National Assembly: half of the members could be elected, the others appointed from the provinces.

The Buddhist leadership underscored its boycott of the congress by demanding that "the U.S. government at once end its support for the Thieu-Ky military clique." A communique issued by the Unified Buddhist Church in the name of Buddhists in the army's northernmost 1st Corps area charged that the junta intended to wage "a civil war with U.S. backing" to hang onto power.

The government, however, completed the withdrawal of 1,500 Vietnamese marines it had sent to Da Nang last week in U.S. Air Force transports to take over the northern city from dissident troops.

Two battalions — 1,078 men — and 10 tanks were airlifted back to Saigon in Vietnamese planes from their tent city at the U.S.-Vietnamese Da Nang air base, a Vietnamese army spokesman said. A third battalion left earlier for what the government said was an assignment against the Communists elsewhere in the 1st Corps.

Despite the departure of the marines, 5,000 persons, including 500 Vietnamese soldiers and more than 100 armed students, marched in a new antigovernment demonstration in the streets of Da Nang. The students were members of a "struggle committee" formed in Hue, another center of Buddhist unrest.

The students carried U.S. carbines, grenades and pistols issued to them by Vietnamese officers.

They displayed banners reading: "The United States has violated our autonomy by supporting the Ky government which is not chosen by the Vietnamese people" and "America stays here because it wants to, not at the bidding of our people."

The bill, said Romney, "would adversely affect the interests of the people of Michigan — substituting a set of artificial values for a more equitable system."

The vetoed bill would allow local communities to set aside the so-called accelerated depreciation schedules established by the State Tax Commission — substituting a straight-line schedule.

Local governments were granted extension last year. At the request of Detroit, a bill to exempt the county from the new schedules for another year was passed by the Legislature, but was recalled from Romney's desk when Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley ruled informally that it appeared unconstitutional.

A second bill, applying to the entire state, was passed.

The firm, the state's third largest auto insurer, said the higher rates would be put into effect as policies expired and were renewed.

It blamed increasing auto accidents, injuries and deaths and the higher cost of repairs for the boosts.

The average increase for bodily injury and property damage coverage is 13.5 per cent; for collision, 15 per cent, and comprehensive rates are decreased by 3.6 per cent.

Allstate said it lost money on Michigan business last year but declined to reveal a figure.

The Automobile Club and State Farm Mutual Insurance Co., the state's two largest auto insurers, recently raised their rates.

Estes Is Grilled On Fraud Aides

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Billie Sol Estes faces cross-examination today over statements that loan companies, plus scores of individuals, had plotted with him to deal in worthless mortgages involving millions.

Estes, onetime whiz kid of farm finance, spied off one name after another Monday of firms and people he accused of agreeing secretly to such transactions.

Almost before court recessed for the evening, spokesmen for a number of finance corporations disputed Estes' recital.

He finished direct testimony just before the end of the first day of a hearing on his motion for a new trial, leaving cross-examination by government counsel for today.

Taking the stand for only the second time in three criminal trials, the West Texas promoter broke four years of silence on transactions in mortgages on mythical fertilizer tanks, in an effort to win release from the Leavenworth, Kan., federal prison.

He has served about 15 months of a 15-year term for mail fraud and conspiracy.

Estes, now 41 and almost skinless in contrast to his former plumpness, was brought here under guard to appear before U.S. Dist. Judge Leo Brewster.

Estes and his lawyers contend his mail fraud and conspiracy conviction should be wiped out because, they say, a government witness lied at Estes' trial here three years ago, and also that knowledge of all parties that there were no fertilizer tanks to secure mortgages on hundreds of them made fraud impossible.

Union Orders Miners Back To Coal Pits

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Most of the striking miners in the soft coal fields stayed away from their jobs today despite a union back-to-work order.

But there was one tiny crack in the work stoppage. Some 190 miners went back to the Thunderbird Collieries near Shelby, Ind.

And in Ohio a continued shutdown of the mines was blamed chiefly on delay in receipt of the "back-to-work" order issued by officials of the United Mine Workers Union.

Elsewhere, a number of locals called meetings to discuss the walkout.

About 53,000 miners in nine states were on strike in the biggest walkout in the soft coal fields since 1950.

The strike started early Monday over the failure of the union and the Bituminous Coal Operators Association to reach agreement on a new contract in Washington.

Telegrams signed by Union President W. A. (Tony) Boyle and other union officers went out Monday to all union districts ordering the strikers back to work.

Last Friday, Boyle said the union considered itself "at liberty to strike at any time" because the union had no contract with the association.

With the strike under way, union officials huddled in Washington before the back-to-work directive was issued.

Later, Boyle met with president Edward G. Fox of the coal association after a meeting of the association's five-man executive committee.

Neither side would comment on the meeting. There was speculation that Fox told Boyle the operators would not resume negotiations until the men are back at work.

The association's executive board meets in Pittsburgh today as a prelude to the resumption of talks in Washington, possibly Wednesday.

MUSKEGON (AP) — United Auto Workers Union leaders say a strike will be called against Continental Motors Corp. in Muskegon unless negotiations are completed by Sunday night on a new contract with office workers.

The firm is Muskegon's largest employer with some 6,000 workers, most of them represented by the UAW.

Harold Van Alsbury, UAW international representative, said progress was being made in negotiations, but several issues remain unsettled.

Approximately 350 Continental workers are represented by UAW Office and Clerical Employees, Local 279. They voted a year ago to join the union and have been in negotiations several months for their first contract.

Philippine President Seeks End Of Warring In Malaysia-Indonesia

MANILA (AP) — Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos called today for a foreign ministers' meeting to seek a way to end Asia's other war, the Indonesian-Malaysian "confrontation."

Marcos proposed a meeting of the foreign ministers of Malaysia, Indonesia, the Philippines and other Asian countries if they are interested.

He said it would be fruitless for himself, President Sukarno of Indonesia and Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman of Malaysia to hold a summit session unless the foreign ministers could find a basis for agreement.

Marcos said Philippine recognition of Malaysia is imminent as soon as procedural matters are resolved. A decades-old Philippine claim to Sabah — North Borneo — now part of the Malaysian Federation, led to the rupture in relations.

In the exclusive interview, Marcos also:

1. Said the first elements of a 2,000-man force of Philippine combat engineers will arrive in South Viet Nam by the end of May if Senate approval is received this month as expected.

The House of Representatives approved the force Monday night by a vote of 81-7.

"I'm assured by Senate leaders the bill will pass by a pretty good margin," the president said.

2. Predicted that the continuing negotiations between the Philippines and the United States on America bases here would be completed by the end of 1966.

Bill To Regulate College Societies Fails In House

LANSING (AP) — A bill to outlaw racial and religious discrimination in fraternities and sororities at state colleges and universities failed in the House Monday.

Michigan's tiny Amish community also suffered the latest in a long series of defeats.

Speaker Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, ruled an amendment allowing the religious group to continue violating state law by employing a non-certified teacher in its one-room schoolhouse near Camden was not germane to the school tax bill under consideration.

The vote on the anti-discrimination bill, sponsored by Rep. James Del Rio, D-Detroit, was 44-42 in favor of passage, but it takes 56 yes votes for a measure to pass.

Romney Vetoes Property Tax

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney today vetoed a property tax bill — a move that Detroit and Wayne County officials say will cost them $5.1 million in taxes this year.

The veto, Romney said, would save taxpayers across the state some $20 million. Many of these would be homeowners, he added.

The bill, said Romney, "would adversely affect the interests of the people of Michigan — substituting a set of artificial values for a more equitable system."

The vetoed bill would allow local communities to set aside the so-called accelerated depreciation schedules established by the State Tax Commission — substituting a straight-line schedule.

Local governments were granted extension last year. At the request of Detroit, a bill to exempt the county from the new schedules for another year was passed by the Legislature, but was recalled from Romney's desk when Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley ruled informally that it appeared unconstitutional.

Third Insurance Firm Boosts Car Rates In State

DETROIT (AP) — A 10.3 per cent average increase in auto insurance rates that will affect 300,000 Michigan policy holders has been announced by Allstate Insurance Co.

The firm, the state's third largest auto insurer, said the higher rates would be put into effect as policies expired and were renewed.

It blamed increasing auto accidents, injuries and deaths and the higher cost of repairs for the boosts.

College Vote

DETROIT (AP) — Wayne County voters will decide May 9 whether they want to set up a community college system.

Fifty-four residents have filed for six community college trustee posts to be decided in the same election.

U.P. Education Conference

Humphrey Will Address School Meeting May 9

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has been invited to address the luncheon meeting of a conference on improvement of education in the Upper Peninsula at Northern Michigan University Monday, May 9. The Vice President is also scheduled to appear at an NMU student convocation the same afternoon.

The invitation to Mr. Humphrey was extended by Dwight Leavitt, Houghton, of the U. P. Power Co., and Charles Follo, Escanaba, University of Michigan extension director in the U. P. as co-chairmen of the committee planning the conference.

Congressman Raymond Cleveland (D-Sault Ste. Marie) helped with the invitations at Washington.

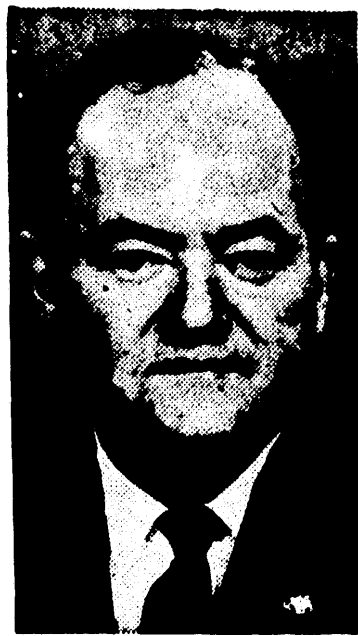

The conference will devote a full day to inspection of public schooling in the Upper Peninsula and to prescribing for its improvement in three general areas: school reorganization, vocational education and elementary and secondary school aid.

Student Convocation

Keynoters on U. P. schools and needs will be Dr. Edward Pfau, Lansing, consultant on higher education, Michigan Department of Education, and Jean Worth, editor of the Escanaba Daily Press at the opening morning session.

The luncheon will be addressed by Vice President Humphrey on the national view of need for improvement of education, and by Thomas Brennan, president of the Michigan State Board of Education.

The conferees will attend the student convocation in the NMU Fieldhouse to hear Vice President Humphrey's address and then attend workshops on the three major phases of school improvement. The 6:30 dinner session will be addressed by Alexander Kloster, acting state superintendent of public instruction.

Serving U. P. Needs

Follo said "This conference came about as result of work of the Human Resources Committee of the Upper Peninsula Committee for Area Progress concerning employment, training for employment, a speech and hearing center for the Upper Peninsula and mental and physical health.

"A major committee concern was education and it felt it would be helpful to focus public attention on the great need for school reorganization and on the opportunities to improve schools through new sources of financial help.

"The UPCAP delegate body mandated the committee to enlist the sponsorship of other groups interested in education in a conference to spotlight some of the obstacles to better education for our children and to give school boards, school administrators and the public opportunity to voice their hopes and frustrations in trying to achieve such goals.

Sponsors Named

"We have been gratified by the response from labor, industry, business and from private and state agencies offering assistance in putting on this important conference. We hope it will be a good sounding board for the problems of education in the U. P. and will provide a means of finding improvements in legislation and administration to help local communities get the best kind of education for their young people and for a more prosperous U. P."

Sponsoring groups will include UPCAP, Operation Action-U. P., the AFL-CIO, Northern Michigan University, Michigan Tech, Michigan State University, the University of Michigan, the U. P. Educational Planning Committee, the U. P. Association of School Board Members and School Administrators, the Michigan Department of Education and the Upper Peninsula Intermediate School Districts.

Briefly Told

The regular meeting of the Washington PTA will be held Wednesday. Parents may visit with the teachers at 7:30 p. m., the meeting will begin at 8 p. m.

Regular meeting of the Delta Chapter 118 Royal Arch Masons will be held Thursday evening at 7:30. Inspector A. Merle Larson will be present. All officers and members should be present.

The Upper Peninsula of Michigan Gladiola Society will meet at Carpenter's Hall on Thursday, April 14. A pot luck supper will be served at 6 p. m., followed by a short business meeting and the annual gladiola bulb auction and white elephant sale. Members are reminded to bring their own table service.

ESCANABA HAS A new mayor today. He is Mayor Harold Vanlerberghe, who was chosen by the Council at its meeting Monday night. The "new" Council (from right) is composed of Councilmen Cecil Chase, George Rusch, retiring mayor; Mayor Vanlerberghe, Ed Cox and H. George Nelson. (Daily Press Photo)

Council Chooses Vanlerberghe As Escanaba Mayor

Escanaba's new five-man Council, with a combined total of 26 years experience, met in reorganization session in the City Hall Monday night.

Mayor George Rusch retired from a two-year term in that office and Harold Vanlerberghe was unanimously elected by the Council to serve as mayor for the next two years. Vanlerberghe had received the highest vote in the recent Council election.

Mayor Vanlerberghe presented Rusch with the gavel that had been used in Council sessions of the past two years.

"I want to pay tribute to and commend Mayor Rusch for his fine service to the city as mayor and as a member of the Delta County Board of Supervisors," said Vanlerberghe in making the presentation. He praised Rusch and said that he "had gone well above the call of duty in the performance of his duties as mayor."

Rusch said that "in stepping down as mayor I want to thank the City of Escanaba and its people for giving me the opportunity to serve." He said he appreciated the honor and that he "tried to do the job the citizens expected of me."

Escanaba's councilmen range from Cecil Chase, never before on the Council, to the return of veteran Councilman Edward J. Cox, with 10 years service from 1951 to 1962.

Mayor Vanlerberghe has been a member of the Council for six years. Rusch for eight years, and H. George Nelson was elected two years ago.

City Manager George Harvey will set up a day on which the Council, at its convenience, will tour municipal departments, utilities and facilities. The tour is a traditional informational event for the "new" Council.

One of the first actions of the Council was the appointment of three members of the Board of Review and Delta County Board of Supervisors. There were no changes.

Reappointed were L. J. Jacobs, Wesley Hansen and Matt Smith.

Mayor Vanlerberghe explained that Jacobs had said that he was willing to resign the supervisor position, but that he had also indicated that if the Council is willing he would accept reappointment.

The City of Escanaba will be represented on the Delta County Tax Allocation Commission by Rusch, who had served in that capacity for the past five years.

Soo Has $22,000 Education Grant

LANSING (AP)—The Education Department reports the U. S. Department of Education has given final approval to nine projects totaling $260,318 for special education programs.

The programs, entirely financed by federal funds, will be for advanced creativity in education projects. Among projects given final approval was:—$22,000 to the Sault Ste. Marie Public Schools to conduct a study of the need for supplementary education services.

Endorse Williams

CLARE (AP)—G. Mennen Williams was given unanimous endorsement Monday night by county chairmen and representatives from the 36th State Senatorial District. Williams is a Democratic candidate for the U. S. senatorial nomination.

Northern Will Host Parley On Employment Aid

MARQUETTE — Northern Michigan University will be the site of the first of four regional conferences in the state planned by the National Defense Education Act Title V-A office of the State Department of Education for the purpose of "Meeting the Needs of Employment-Bound Youth."

The Upper Peninsula conference, co-sponsored by NMU and the State Department of Education, has been set for Tuesday, April 19, at the University Center.

Attending the all-day session will be U. P. school administrators and high school guidance counselors.

Because 60 per cent of the high school graduates seek employment immediately upon receiving their secondary school diplomas, the conferences have been planned in an attempt to assist these young people, as well as those who drop out of school before graduation, to gain an understanding of their abilities, interests, aptitudes, and also the skills necessary to gain employment in the rapidly changing world of work.

Keynote speaker at the U. P. Conference will be Dr. Charles Weaver, supervisor of guidance services, Ohio State Department of Education. Also addressing the conferees will be Dr. Robert Williams, director, guidance program in the Oakland Schools, Pontiac.

McCaslin Joins Clairmont Staff

Glenn McCaslin, a veteran of nearly 40 years in the transportation industry, has been appointed to the new position of customer service manager by Clairmont Transfer Co.

McCaslin will be responsible for coordinating and improving customer service areas for Clairmont, including improvement of shipment tracing procedures.

A native of Wayland, Mich., McCaslin, 59, comes to Escanaba from Kalamazoo where he was employed with McNamara Motor Express, Inc. He also has worked for Brady Motor Freight in Iowa.

Prior to entering the trucking business, he worked in various capacities with midwestern railroads.

He is a graduate of Western Michigan University and is married to the former Thelma Foster, who was a resident of Escanaba during the 1950's.

Harvesting Wood

The Upper Peninsula's wood harvest has never had as much inspection as it has received lately. The inquiry results from a shortage of woods labor.

Some wood industry spokesmen have been saying for several years that they foresaw trouble ahead in the declining production of pulpwood. But since there was a chronic oversupply of wood there was no general alarm. It was good to get rid of the surplus and to get operations on a current basis. The process was also welcomed by loggers, wood handlers and probably even the mills because it tended to increase wood prices.

These prices had remained static or had even declined in a period in which the costs of logging had increased. But like so many changes, when it came it swung too far and left some wood-using industries without enough wood for normal operations. Lower Peninsula pulp mills sent their buyers to the U.P. seeking wood. The cedar products mills scrounged desperately to get enough wood for their season's operations.

The hard look that the industry has been giving itself discovered a condition which has been years in the making. The loggers didn't quit the woods overnight. They've been doing it for years. And the exodus has been greatly hastened by the general shortage of labor in most industries. The loggers were welcomed into other work that paid better, or was more pleasant, or was more steady. Particularly that last one; logging by its nature tends to be seasonal because the woods get soupy with fall rains and spring thaws.

The wood-using industries aren't agreed about how to solve the wood supply problem. A few are scouring themselves with self-criticism and saying that the mills will have to get into the act more positively if logging is to be made more attractive. Others say no, that the wood supplier should be preserved as a private enterprise, but given aid in stabilizing his trade.

It isn't clear yet what will happen, but it is obvious that there will be some changes. The likelihood is that the industry will not fall into one pattern of mill company-operated logging, or all private logger supply system. The system has got to work and it will adapt to local conditions for success, and these local conditions vary.

The logger may reason that if the price of wood is increased, the law of supply and demand will solve any shortage, but the mill companies have other problems besides the mere plenty of wood supply. They must be concerned with the cost of the wood as well. It fits into a total cost picture for their paper, board, furniture, veneer or other products that affects their competitive position and hence their hope of profitable operation.

This is the heart of the current inquiry into the labor shortage. That can be solved very simply by just raising wood prices and woods wages. The problem goes deeper than that. It questions whether the way that timber now is being logged is the most efficient manner in which it can be done. The consensus seems to be that our logging methods are not as good as they could be; that the trade hasn't had its share of the research and development that has made the modern paper mill efficient.

There is a trend in logging toward larger operations with mechanized equipment. The little operator is being hurt by new laws like those on workmen's compensation and by a heavy burden of accounting and the difficulty of keeping costly equipment busy. He can survive with good management and no doubt will have a place in the wood harvest of the future, but he'll change, too, to meet the new problems.

Some of the jobs are now using Tel-Farm, the Michigan State University computerized accounting system to keep books on their logging. That would make any old time lumberjack shake his head in disbelief, but there are so few old lumberjacks around any more that someone has got to take over their work.

The Doctor Says:

Surgery Corrects Most Defects

Q—I have coronary insufficiency with attacks of angina pectoris. I take nitroglycerin and paratrate for the pain. Would it be better to switch to digitalis and stop the paratrate?

A—Nitroglycerin and paratrate are both given to dilate the coronary arteries. Digitalis is given to strengthen the heart beat, chiefly in persons with a severely leaking heart valve. You should follow your doctor's instructions because digitalis is of no value in the treatment of coronary heart disease.

Q—I have an abnormality of the left ventricle. Is this some kind of heart disease? What would cause it? Can it be cured by surgery or relieved by drugs?

A—The heart has four chambers (two auricles and two ventricles). The left ventricle is by far the largest and has the thickest wall. From this chamber blood is pumped to every part of your body except your lungs. Defects may be present from birth or may be the result of an infection such as rheumatic fever. With modern surgical methods most of these defects can now be corrected. Drugs may be used to improve heart function but will not cure the condition.

Q—How serious is endocarditis? How is it caused?

A—Endocarditis is caused by a bacterial invasion of the inner lining of the heart. This may be caused by various germs but most commonly by streptococci. Before the advent of antibiotics it was always fatal. Even with antibiotics only about 70 per cent of the victims can be saved.

Q—What is hypertensive cardiovascular disease? Is it very serious?

Pulp Industry Looks At Self

Changes Coming In U.P. Forests

By JEAN WORTH

Descriptions of Upper Peninsula logging as "inefficient" at meetings discussing the winter shortage of woods labor aroused the ire of many Upper Peninsula loggers.

They regard themselves as good loggers, doing a good job of getting out timber under the conditions in which they have had to work. These conditions include the quality of the timber stands they have harvested, the mechanical equipment that they have been able to purchase, and the mills' commitments for wood. This last item is a crucial one for the logger because when he goes to the bank to borrow money for a tractor or loader or truck the bank wants to know how sure he is of income in the period in which he'll be paying off his loan.

Upper Peninsula logging has never had as hard an inspection as the one that it is getting now. All elements of wood industry are participating in the general inquiry. It aims to enlarge the income of the wood producers.

Loggers aren't apt to think that professional foresters can be a big help to them in improving their logging; they have respect for the foresters' knowledge of forest management, but think that they themselves know most about harvesting timber. Loggers are apt to believe that if wood prices go up, harvest problems will be solved.

The wood industries, however, facing a problem of well organized wood supply, believe that there must be changes and their spokesmen have been more vocal lately than ever before in prescribing for changes.

The recent seminar on woods labor sponsored by the Lake States Council of Industrial Foresters at Eagle River, Wis., presented the views of industry leaders on wood supply problems.

D. A. Swan, forest engineer, American Pulpwood Association, said the failure of logger training programs in the north-eastern U.S. under the Manpower Development & Training Act had been dismal, but that "the training picture is not all hopeless." He cited some industrial on-the-job training success. "Most of the recruits were not unemployed, but wanted to better themselves. They were trained (in Maine) in tree length skidding operation."

"There is one big question in all of our minds and that is: Where are we going to get the trainees? The basic reason men are not attracted to woods work is the poor public image of the pulpwood industry. Years ago we probably earned it and deserved it. Under present conditions it is not deserved."

"Wages are in line with other industries. Companies are eliminating the seasonal aspects of woods employment. One company in Maine guarantees 45 weeks work per year, and others are following. Young men not going on to college can LOGGING HAS never been without its problems. In the last century oxen were used for skidding timber in the woods. The last were used in Upper Peninsula in the 1930s, but their general use had expired before 1900. They were replaced by horses and after World War I the tractor replaced the horse, although a few still are used for skidding. A chainsaw has replaced the hand-pulled crosscut that replaced the feller's axe, and a power loader lifts the wood, places it on a carrier and moves it to the truck that takes it to the mill or railroad.

do far worse than become professional loggers."

Labor Process
C. G. McLaren, vice president-woodlands, Owens-Illinois, Inc.,

"Pulpwood production remains a labor process... but except for the chain saw, almost no improved tools have been accepted on an industry-wide basis in the past 10 years. We must develop highly automated and integrated harvesting systems and several sophisticated machines that combine many harvesting functions and reduce labor have been placed on the market, but they are not suited to the harvest of small, lightly-stocked parcels of land, and are too expensive for the ordinary supplier."

"Our suppliers have failed to take widespread advantage of equipment that is suitable and within their financial reach. The reason must be the result of the paper industry users not providing the environment which would encourage suppliers to do so. The paper industry must recognize that it must do the job. We are the ones who need the pulpwood. We must develop the systems and create the environment within which suppliers will be able and eager to form the efficient matching of men and machines necessary to do the job."

Capital Needs
"The pulpwood supply business must be recognized as an area for larger capital investment, and one in which it is possible to make a good return on investment."

"On paper the hourly or daily wage earnings do not look too bad, but the average annual earnings are too low to even retain the workers we now have, let alone attract new men. The only possible solution to our increasingly bad woods labor situation is to increase the man-day productivity — the take-home pay for each man — and this can only be done by closing the mechanization gap. The most difficult part will be training the industries' producers and loggers in the new skills necessary to fully utilize their machines in new types of logging systems."

"What are we going to do about getting and holding manpower, and building new mechanized equipment, and using what we have? I say it takes company woods payrolls, and company-financed substantial contractors. Let's make the woods attractive by putting a good man on a machine and paying him as well as he would be paid in the city, keeping in mind living conditions in both places, and the fact that he will work in good, clean air."

Job Persuaders

James S. Hensel, forest engineer of the American Pulpwood Association, Wausau, Wis.: "What does it require to persuade a man to become a successful pulpwood producer? There are many tangible requirements such as year-around employment, retirement plans, paid vacations, medical and hospitalization insurance, etc. It is ludicrous to believe that we would persuade anyone to enter any business where such conditions do not prevail. It might appear that I am advocating a woods labor force completely and entirely company-employed."

"Such is not the case. People go into business to make a profit. Innumerable, highly successful pulpwood producers attest that a profit can be made in the pulpwood business. Then why is the woods labor force dwindling? Primarily because we can no longer afford to continue to satisfactorily subsidize the inefficient portion."

Probably the last people in the world to get definitive word on the results of a military coup in a foreign country are that country's embassy personnel in Washington.

Take the Indonesian embassy for example, which put out a press release the day after dispatches from Jakarta revealed that President Sukarno had been forced to take a back seat to military strongman Lt. Gen. Suharto. Said the release:

"President Sukarno instructed the Commander of the Army to act on the President's behalf by taking necessary steps to assure security, to ensure the stability of the government, and to maintain the course of the Revolution... The President also instructed (Lt. Gen. Suharto) to continue the teachings of the Great Leader of the Revolution thoroughly."

Questions And Answers

Q—Why has Tennessee been called the "Volunteer State"?

A—In every war since the Revolution it has supplied two or three times as many volunteers as were called for by the federal government.

Q—Who uses the U. S. wilderness areas?

A—They are open to the public without restriction, except for fire regulations. Hunting and fishing are permitted in accordance with state laws.

Q—Which U. S. president served in office for only one month?

A—William Henry Harrison, from March 4 to April 4, 1841.

Janitress Irritated By Sloppy Secretaries

Dear Ann Landers: Any woman who works as a janitress knows more about personal habits of secretaries than the most accomplished psychologist in the world. I hope you will print my letter and maybe it will wise some of them up.

I work in a beautiful, modern office building where the company has spent a fortune on the very best furniture and equipment. Some secretaries are smart enough to make $500 a month but they don't know that a wastebasket was built to hold paper. It was never meant to be a garbage pail. You'd be shocked at the secretaries who throw orange peelings, half-filled coffee cups and soggy tea bags into the wastebaskets. Of course they leak through and make a terrible mess. For good measure they dump in shavings from the pencil sharpener.

I find sugar spilled on the tops of desks and it just stays there right along with the blobs of coffee cream, cookie crumbs and hunks of chewing gum stuck any old place.

I just found three pairs of old shoes under a desk, and a good cashmere sweater, rolled up in a ball like it was a rag.

Every evening I turn off electric typewriters and photo copy machines which were left on. I unplug electric coffee-makers and defrost small refrigerators. It isn't my job to do these things but it's against my nature to let things burn out and get ruined.

Women are always yelling about how messy men are, but so help me I'd rather clean up after 20 men than two women. Thanks for letting me get this off my chest. I feel better already.—MINNIE

Dear Minnie: I'll bet you a soggy tea bag that this column is going up on hundreds of office bulletin boards all over the country. And do you know who will post it? THE MEN!

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 14-year-old girl who needs advice. My mother's older sister never married. Aunt Bonnie is nice looking, wears expensive clothes and holds down a good job. Aunt Bonnie comes over about twice a week for dinner. Lately she has been getting me alone and running down my father. She says she could have married several men who were a lot better looking and richer than dad. She also says my mother could have done better if she hadn't grabbed the first thing that came down the pike. I don't know why my aunt insists on running dad down. He is a wonderful person and he and mom seem very happy.

I don't like to hear these things but I don't know how to shut my aunt up. Please help me.—WISH I HAD EAR-PLUGS

Dear Wish: Aunt Bonnie is ashamed of her single status so she is trying to belittle your mother's marriage. Tell her you don't think it's very nice of a guest to come into a home and talk about people who offer her hospitality. That ought to settle her hash.

Unsure of yourself on dates? What's right? What's wrong? Should you? Shouldn't you? Send for Ann Landers' booklet "Dating Do's and Don'ts," enclosing with your request 35c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Tale Of A Senator

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — At Hickory Hill, New York Sen. Robert Kennedy's Virginia home, the animal population generally outnumbered the humans.

In the menagerie are six horses, which the senator houses in a stable at the rear of his property. Almost touching this structure is a stable belonging to the Kennedys' backdoor neighbor.

Of late the Kennedy children — nine at the most recent count — and the neighbor's kids have discovered it's great sport to jump from one building to the other. Since the stables aren't very tall and are only a foot or two apart, it's not particularly dangerous — just good fun.

Except for the horses, Kennedy's neighbor found that his animals at times become quite spooked by the sudden clings of little bodies landing on the tin roof.

On a recent weekend, the neighbor was saddling up a horse in the stable when a sudden clang—followed by the agonizing whinnies of protest—announced the arrival of another jumper.

Rushing out with upraised fist, the man froze in mid-gesture. Sure enough, there was the senator from New York, sheepishly grinning down at him.

"How in the world," he muttered later, "do you tell a U. S. senator to get off your roof?"

Principal targets of mounting GOP claims of gains in the House of Representatives this fall are the 65 freshman Democratic congressmen elected in the Johnson sweep of 1964.

"He'll have just two terms," growled a veteran Republican about one of these freshmen. "This is both of them—his first and his last."

Perhaps the most forthright political statement of 1966 has already been made—by former U. S. Ambassador to India John Kenneth Galbraith. De-

Sawyer AFB Has Great War Team

K. I. SAWYER AFB — Few fighter squadrons have a history comparable to that of K. I. Sawyer's 62nd Fighter Interceptor Squadron.

As a component of the 56th Fighter Group, activated in 1951, the 62nd, then a pursuit squadron, began to earn its enviable reputation, flying P-35, P-36, P-39 and P-40 aircraft at Savannah AB, Ga.

After becoming equipped with the P-47 "Thunderbolt" the 62nd set sail for England in early '43 soon to become the first fighter outfit to enter combat in the European theater of war. During June 1943, Captain Walter Cook shot down the first enemy plane credited to the squadron.

In November of the same year, the squadron set a record by shooting down 15 enemy aircraft in one day — only to better that record 10 months later when it downed 29 enemy planes in a 24 hour period.

Cancer Fund Need Is Told

Jack Beck, chairman of the Delta County Cancer Society fund drive, presented an informative program to the Escanaba Kiwanis Club at its Monday meeting.

Beck told of the work that is being done at present by the local cancer society, and also pointed out the aims of the future. Most important at this time is the fund drive which will be in progress throughout April.

An interesting film, produced by the American Cancer Society was shown, depicting the varied forms of cancer, and the importance of early detection.

Dr. N. J. Theisen, radiologist of the St. Francis Hospital, answered questions pertaining to the cure of cancer and also described the equipment that is available locally for the care and treatment of the disease.

Dr. Theisen said there is an internationally recognized period of five years after a cancer has been treated, after which a patient is considered cured.

The cancer treating radiology department of St. Francis will be five years old this coming fall, and at that time there will be local patients who will qualify for the magical "Million Club", having completed their five year waiting period, Dr. Theisen added.

It was here that the squadron became the first F-101 outfit to meet its original alert commitment date and started protecting the northern border of the United States in February 1960.

Here the squadron maintains its "vigilance" over the north 24 hours a day.

Until January 1964, the 62nd was host unit. It was then that Strategic Air Command took over the reins.

In addition to aerial combat, the squadron fighters were deployed on escort, strafe, and dive bomb missions. The efficiency and success in completing these assignments added even more prestige to the impressive array of kills scored by the unit — 336.5 enemy aircraft destroyed in 50 months of combat.

Are you paying more than 11½¢ a gallon for your residential heating oil?

If you are, you're paying too much to heat your home.

If you are now using natural Gas (or plan to) for cooking, water heating, clothes drying or Gaslights, and your use is equal to that of our average residential customer, you can get your Gas for heating under our special service rate at a cost equivalent to fuel oil priced at just 11½¢ a gallon. And the nice thing about our Gas rates is that the more you use, the less it costs per unit. That's a bargain in anybody's book. (Can't pay for the cost of conversion right now? Here's good news: Whether you convert your present furnace, or even install a new Gas furnace, Michigan Consolidated will pay for it and its installation by a qualified heating contractor. And it won't cost you a penny until October 1, 1966!) So why not make your present oil furnace more economical this winter? Have it converted to economical natural Gas. Then you can start putting your money in the bank for a change. Instead of in your furnace. For full details, call us or your heating contractor today.

Schools Focus Title I Projects In Communication

WASHINGTON — Communications skills — remedial reading, speech and writing — are the most pressing needs of educationally deprived children, according to an analysis of 484 projects submitted to the federal government under Title I of the Elementary-Secondary Education Act.

Harold Howe II, commissioner of education, told a U.S. Senate subcommittee in a special report that "our analysis of these representative projects indicates that 70 percent of our local systems have found that our educationally deprived children have severe problems in communication."

"Remedial reading, speech and writing appear in 292 of the 484 projects."

Escanaba Project

Howe's statement appeared to confirm the direction of the Escanaba Area Public school project, which will be considered tonight by the Board of Education at its regular meeting at the School Administration building. A local committee has been working toward a remedial reading project for the summer and also using Elementary-Secondary funds for a type of "Head Start" preschool program. If the Board approves the project and it meets state and federal specifications, the Area Schools could receive about $86,000 to implement the program.)

Howe said about 10 per cent of the projects surveyed involve preschool programs.

In the 484 projects, total participation by children totaled 504,901. Preschool to sixth graders accounted for 346,376.

"Although funds were not available until after the school year began, by March 18, $757 million had been obligated for local projects benefitting approximately 5.6 million children in all states," Howe said. "This progress is a tribute to the ingenuity and hard work of state and local educators."

Local Control

Under Title I of the Act, local Board of Education through citizens committees have been directed to prepare programs to meet the specific needs of the "educationally deprived" children in their own districts. The act provides a basic grant to each school district, based on census figures which indicate the number of children in the district coming from families with less than $2,000 annual income.

The Act takes the position that the majority of children from low-income families are educationally deprived.

Consequently, Howe said, "many school systems across the country are stressing programs to provide guidance, health and food services, education equipment, and materials for remedial teaching and social workers and home-visitors."

He also pointed out that educators have used imagination and innovation in development of projects. He cited Title I projects in Florida, where handicapped children in hospitals have an education program brought to them; in Detroit and Los Angeles where special programs for pregnant girls have been established; in Tucson, Ariz., where each first grader has a college student who is a tutor, advisor, and companion on field trips; and in Rochester, N. Y., where a mobile art gallery provides inner-city students with cultural experiences and an audiovisual bus provides instruction while students ride to school.

Ask Extension

Howe said the administration has recommended an extension of Title I funding for at least another four years, through 1970, to "assure that the educational gains made in the past year will not be in vain."

Also requested is a raising of the minimum family wage qualification to $3,000 to provide more money to local districts.

(Howe's statement before the Subcommittee on Education of the Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare was witnessed by Orville E. Peterson, assistant superintendent of the Escanaba Area Public Schools.)

Voiceprint Is Accepted For Perjury Case

NEW YORK (AP) — A revolutionary device called the voiceprint that its inventor says may some day rival the fingerprint as a method of criminal identification has been accepted as evidence in a perjury case.

The inventor, Lawrence G. Kersta, 58, a physicist, appears today in Westchester County Court to demonstrate how the voiceprint works.

Judge Robert Dempsey ruled Monday that the new form of identification could be used by the state in the case of a suspended policeman from New Rochelle charged with perjury.

It would be the first time that the device would be introduced as evidence in court although some police departments are known to be experimenting with it.

Kersta, a former employee of Bell Telephone Laboratories, Inc., has developed an electronic method of converting the voice into weird-looking picture displays known as spectrographs. These measure the physical characteristics of a voice, each of which is unique, Kersta says.

"You might call it a fingerprint of a voice," the physicist said in an interview. "Right now voice prints are where fingerprints were 60 years ago, but they could easily become as valuable to police as fingerprints."

Kersta's words were echoed by Samuel Dash, a law expert from Washington, D.C.

"What we've got now is a whole new issue of law," Dash said. "Maybe we'll keep files of voiceprints — and just think of their value in kidnapping or extortion cases."

Kersta believes the voiceprint represents a milestone in criminology that could easily help police track down suspects in cases involving the use of telephones. He says he has supervised the production of 50,000 voiceprints with 97 per cent accuracy.

Humphrey Would Tout Minnesota

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who has done some foreign traveling for President Johnson in recent months, has noticed maps of Texas hanging in some U.S. embassies.

Humphrey, a Minnesotan, recently wrote Gov. Karl Rolvaag:

"Dear Karl: May I make a friendly suggestion. Why doesn't the state of Minnesota send to our embassies a map of Minnesota and any books or pamphlets you have on Minnesota?"

County Board Taps Sedenquist

Charles Sedenquist, Wells Township supervisor, was re-elected chairman of the Delta County Board of Supervisors at the annual reorganization meeting of the board began this morning at the Delta County Building.

It was Sedenquist's third consecutive yearly term since he succeeded Wheaton Storm in 1963.

Sedenquist, who has been supervisor in Wells Township, for 17 years, defeated Phil Miron, Ford River supervisor, in an election of board members 14-9.

Harold Vanierberghe, new Mayor of Escanaba, was elected Chairman Pro Tem by a 14-9 vote over Frank Stupak, mayor of Gladstone.

The Board welcomed new members Cecil Chase and Edward Cox of Escanaba, who were seated by virtue of their victory in the recent Escanaba City Council election. Gladstone retained George Young, Ray Norton and Stupak on the Board.

The board recessed shortly after 11 a. m. after items on the agenda were referred to committees.

Action was expected this afternoon to equalize the county's 1966 tax valuation and to adopt a tentative 1967 budget after reports by committees.

Joseph Goodman, Brampton Township supervisor, also asked that the Board pass a resolution.

Clergymen Now Can Come Under Social Security

"Many clergymen have an important decision to make by April 15," Arnold T. Williams, social security district manager in Escanaba, said today.

The 1965 amendments to the social security law gave clergymen who had missed previous opportunities to sign up for social security coverage another chance to elect this protection. Now this latest "open season" provided by law is about to run out, he said.

Williams explained that clergymen are the only occupational group who must decide on their own whether they want their earnings to be subject to social security in order to get protection for themselves and their families against the risks of death, disability, and low incomes and illness in the later years.

A clergyman takes the first step in obtaining social security protection by signing Form 2031, available at all social security and Internal Revenue Service offices. He then pays the social security taxes, at the rate set for the self-employed, on his earnings from the ministry.

His religious organization, church, or synagogue is not committed to payments by this decision on his part.

Fair Board To Hold Meetings; Public Invited

Cliff Perras, secretary manager of the Upper Peninsula State Fair, reports that in keeping with the new policy of the Board of Managers an open house meeting will be held in the supervisor's room of the Court House in Marquette on April 15 at 3 p. m.

The public is invited to attend and to present any constructive suggestions or criticism pertaining to the Fair. "We welcome any suggestions for the betterment of the Fair," said Perras.

On the following day, April 16, the Board members and the secretary manager will hold another open meeting in the auditorium of the Superior National Bank at Hancock at 1 p. m. EST.

The Board members are Chairman Mrs. Ruth Butler of Houghton; Robert Davis, St. Ignace; Kemp Brown, Munising; August Hokens, Ewen; and Frank Bender Jr., Escanaba.

Democrats Tack Vets Exemption Onto Money Bill

LANSING (AP)—House Democrats ducked Monday when they learned Republicans were preparing a Tuesday punch.

Republicans were planning, as part of the fight over veterans' property tax exemptions, to move to discharge the ways and means committee of a second supplemental appropriations bill.

Democratic committee members moved quickly to insert veterans exemption language in the bill — making it virtually identical to one Republicans are expecting Gov. George Romney to veto.

The first Democratic $9 million supplemental was amended in ways and means to include an instruction to local assessors to increase this year's exemptions for disabled veterans to $3,500 and to the widows of non-disabled veterans to $2,500.

The measure was passed by the Democrats and sent to the Senate for concurrence.

Rep. Arnell Engstrom, R-Traverse City, former chairman of the committee, later introduced a nearly identical bill — without the veterans' provision.

Republicans were to try to get Engstrom's bill out of committee today — a futile gesture, since they control only one-third of the House votes.

And since Engstrom's bill now contains the Democratic proposal, it presumably would go to Romney in that condition if he vetoed the present bill.

The two Republican members present — Engstrom and Rep. James Farnsworth, of Otsego — "sort of walked out of the meeting at that point," said Farnsworth. They were heading toward the door, thinking the meeting had been completed when Rep. Charles Gray, D-Ypsilanti, moved to amend the bill.

Engstrom said he did not want to stay around to watch the action and Farnsworth followed him out the door.

Both Romney and Speaker Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, have accused each other of trying to create an artificial cash crisis.

Since House Republicans have not given the measure immediate effect, it would not become law until next April 1 — while it is intended to finance the operation of some state agencies for the rest of this fiscal year, ending June 30.

If it were vetoed or became law without immediate effect, the agencies would apparently be without funds for the rest of the year.

MANISTIQUE

Council Elects Reque Mayor

In the reorganization of the Manistique City Council Monday night, Thor H. Reque was elected mayor on a unanimous ballot.

Elected Mayor pro-tem was Charles H. Varnum, who received three votes, while retiring mayor Merwin White received two. Varnum was nominated by White.

Named to three posts on the Board of Supervisors were Varnum, White and Harold Carlson. Carlson was an incumbent who is beginning another four-year term.

In a statement to the Council Reque said that while this is something new for him and he felt humble about assuming the post, he appealed to the Council members to work together in harmony. Though they may disagree, he hoped they will do that which is for the betterment of Manistique, he said.

The Council renewed the lease on the dock property to the Manistique Yacht Club and approved the rental of the Youth Center for a day care center for retarded children.

First Lutheran Plans Building

The First Lutheran Church of Gladstone is preparing to take another important step in its building program this week.

A congregational information meeting will be held Wednesday evening at 7 p. m. in preparation for a congregational meeting which will be held after each of the worship services this coming Sunday, said the Rev. Reuben Carlson, pastor.

At the Sunday meeting the congregation will be asked to approve the written building program, to approve the hiring of an architect, and to approve the hiring of Lutheran Laymen's Movement fund-raising services.

To date the planning toward the building program has been conducted by the building planning committee, Ellis Movallson, chairman.

Other members of the committee are Carl Wedell, Norman Korinek, Norman Peterson, Dr. B. H. Skellenger, Roy Olson, Robert Huppy and Oscar Ohman.

Property has been purchased on the corner of Minneapolis Ave. and 12th St. as the site for the new church building.

Youth Arrested After Car Hits Two Troopers

A 17-year-old Nahma youth was lodged in the Delta County jail today to await arraignment on three charges — including assault with a motor vehicle.

State Police of the Gladstone Post said Ricky I. Schafer was arrested at 11:20 p. m. Monday just west of Rapid River after he fled troopers who had stopped him on U. S. 2 and 41. He was also charged with being a minor in possession of beer and with altering or defacing his operator's license.

Troopers Marvin Allgeyer and Duane Girard said Schafer sped away from them as they were approaching the car on foot after stopping it. The car skidded on the shoulder, bumping first one officer then the other.

The officers returned to their patrol car and gave chase, finally apprehending Schafer about a quarter mile west of Rapid River.

Auto Invades Jack's Door

Jack's Restaurant at Rapid River had an unexpected customer for lunch Monday.

Margaret L. Pardee, 45, of Rte. 1, Ensign, told State Police she was parking her car and missed the brake pedal. The car jumped the curb and ran into the back door.

She was ticketed for violation of the basic speed law. The accident was one of three accidents investigated by State Police Monday.

Clarence Lippold, 76, of 308 S. 9th St., Escanaba, was ticketed for failing to yield the right of way after his car collided with a car driven by Norman E. McKinnon, 45, of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., at 9:55 a. m. Troopers said Lippold stopped for a stop sign at the intersection of U. S. 2 and 41 and Co. Rd. 426 (near the Buck Inn) and then pulled out in front of the McKinnon car. There were no injuries.

Sophie Casperson, 57, of Rte. 1, Powers, was also ticketed for failing to yield the right of way after her car collided with a car driven by Peter Hramiak, 42, of Sudbury, Ont. Officers said she pulled onto U. S. 2 and 41 from a private driveway about 2.7 miles west of the Escanaba City limits at 5:30 p. m. Neither driver was injured, police said.

Traffic tickets were issued to Lawrence E. Callahan, Indianapolis, Ind., for failing to yield the right way; Paul A. Walters, Burlington, Wis. speeding; and Clark N. Sullivan, Republic, Mich., expired trailer's license.

May Call For Draft Is 2,822

LANSING (AP) — Michigan draft boards today were ordered to deliver 2,822 men for induction into the Army in May.

State Selective Service headquarters said it is expected the call will be filled from single men and those married after Aug. 26, 1965.

The draftees will include men from the ages of 19-25, with the oldest called first.

The May call compares with 2,018 for April, 1,951 for March, 2,800 for February and 3,300 for January.

An additional 7,000 men will be ordered for pre-induction physical examinations during May.

Local boards have been authorized to order physical exams for students graduating from college or completing other educational programs this spring.

Tax Allocation Board Members Remain On Job

The Delta County Tax Allocation Board will remain the same for the second straight year after appointments were made Monday by Probate Judge Marie Peters.

Appointed as an at large delegate was Jack Tackman of Gladstone.

He will join Dr. Vernon K. Johnson, who represents the largest school district in the county (Escanaba Area) and George W. Rusch, representing the largest city in the county (Escanaba).

Members of the Board by virtue of their offices according to statute are Ann S. Villeneuve, county treasurer; Hagie Quarnstrom, superintendent of the Delta-Schoolcraft Intermediate School District; and Harold F. Gustafson, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the Board of Supervisors.

Duty of the tax allocation board is to divide the county's 15-mill tax between county, schools and townships.

First meeting is scheduled Monday, April 18, at which time the Board will receive tentative budgets. Preliminary allocation must be completed by Monday, May 16, with final order by Monday, June 6.

Foresters Will Meet Friday

The Upper Peninsula Chapter, Society of American Foresters, will meet at the Dickinson Hotel, Iron Mountain, Friday for a luncheon and program devoted to woods labor.

The speakers will include Albert Gazvoda, Hancock, Michigan Employment Securities Commission; Vernon Knight, Neenah, Kimberly-Clark Corp.; John Sivula, Quinnesec, wood producer and Dr. Eric Bourdo, Alberta, Ford Forestry Center. Bruce Buell of Chassel will be moderator.

Little Bay de Noc Trawler Nets Tons Of Smelt

TONS OF SMELT are being taken from the mouth of Little Bay de Noc by the Ru-leau Brothers of Cedar River in their fishing trawler, the Luella May. At the upper left, thousands of the silvery fish are shown in the forward hold of the trawler. The diagonal object is a screw-type conveyor which feeds the smelt out of the hold to another conveyor for loading into a dump truck. Top right photo shows perhaps another foot of smelt in the rear hold. The drum at the top of the picture is used to wind up trawling nets. At left, the conveyor is positioned outside the 50-foot boat to begin receiving smelt from the screw-type loader, and at right, fish pour into the conveyor, which is electrically operated. The trawler, skippered by Bob Ruleau, has been fishing in Little Bay de Noc waters with good success since last Wednesday. Daily catches have ranged up to 30,000 pounds. Most of the catch has been smelt, with some suckers, a few whitefish and perch and an occasional small northern pike. Perch are separated from the catch and the trawler is followed by swarms of seagulls. The trawler is equipped with an electronic fish finder device, which operates on the principal of sonar, and also has a depth finder to indicate at what depth the school is swimming. Guard Hurt In Maryland Riot BREATHESVILLE, Md. (AP)—A riot by about 400 prisoners at the Maryland Reformatory for Men was brought under control about 7:30 a.m. today but reports from the scene indicate the situation is still explosive.

Warden Trenton L. Fitzburger said he had no idea of the grievances of the men, who began rioting in the dining hall about 5:30 a.m., before a number of them barricaded themselves in a cell block.

Fitzburger ordered that feeding be resumed after about half of the 400 returned to their cells. He conferred with prisoners before making his statement about grievances.

Approximately 40 Maryland state troopers, several sheriff's deputies and the prison staff stopped the rioting.

The institution houses about 1,500 inmates.

Speeches Range Widely In Topic At Toastmasters

The Bay de Noc Toastmasters Club, meeting at Marco's at 6:30 Monday heard invocation by Sherwood Trotter, with Table Topics presented by George McLaughlin covering varied subjects from "My Pet Peeve" to "World Politics."

Master evaluator was James Wren, assisted by Bernard Hoefgen, Fred Fisher, William L. Miller and Charles Burton. Special guest, introduced by Charles Burton, was Don Jacobsen.

Others participating in the evening's program were Walter Peterson, Ron White and Ray Chase.

Bichler Buying Brown Concrete

Purchase of the C. J. Brown Concrete Co. by the Bichler Gravel Co. of Escanaba was announced today by C. Gust Peterson and Thomas F. Brayak, owners of the Gravel Co.

The company will be known as the Brown Redi-Mix Concrete Co. It will be a division of the Bichler Gravel Co., which Peterson and Brayak purchased one year ago.

"It was felt the concrete company would be a natural acquisition to the gravel business," said Peterson. "We will continue to give the same high quality of service and materials as has been offered in the past."

C. J. Brown owned the concrete company. He established the business at 218 N. 9th St., more than 20 years ago and has operated it since. Bichler is acquiring the redi mix plant, four mix trucks and other equipment.

Peterson is president of the Bichler Co. and Brayak is vice president.

FHA Interest Upped 1/4 Point

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a move designed to attract more money to the field, the government has raised the interest rate on new FHA and GI home loans from 5 1/2 to 5 3/4 per cent.

It was the second boost in interest rates on such mortgages in little more than two months. It will mean increased monthly payments on new mortgages — about $3 additional each month on a $15,000 mortgage.

But its main effect is expected to be a lowering of the charge which must be paid to obtain a mortgage. In some areas this charge — called points — now runs as high as 6 or 7 per cent of the total value of a mortgage.

Monday's announcement of increased interest rates on mortgages insured by the Federal Housing Administration or guaranteed by the Veterans Administration represented a further sign of tight money. Unaffected are the estimated 6 million outstanding FHA and VA mortgages which will continue to bear interest at the agreed-upon rate.

Robert C. Weaver, secretary of housing and urban development, cited a shortage of mortgage money, and William J. Driver, VA administrator, said it has become virtually impossible for veterans to obtain GI home loans in many parts of the country.

A spokesman for the Mortgage Bankers Association of America said initial charges should be lowered by as much as two points. This would mean a saving of $300 on a $15,000 mortgage.

The new rate is the highest ever for a VA loan. The FHA rate was 5 1/4 per cent from Sept. 23, 1959, to Feb. 2, 1961.

City Clerks To Hold Michigan Meeting Here

In preparation for the state convention of the Michigan Municipal Clerks Association to be held in Escanaba June 22-24, Escanaba City Clerk Don Guindon will be in Lansing for a meeting on Wednesday.

Guindon will attend a meeting of the elections committee of the Michigan Municipal League and of the executive committee of the Michigan Municipal Clerks.

Ypsilanti Has Woman Mayor

YPSILANTI (AP) — Mrs. Susan Sayre has been named the first woman mayor of Ypsilanti.

Mrs. Sayre was unanimously elected to the post Monday night by City Council.

She was chosen after former Mayor Jerry F. Gooding declined another term.

Mrs. Sayre, the wife of an Ypsilanti physician, had served as mayor pro tem during the past year and was the third woman to have served on the council. Jack Keller Jr. was named to replace her as mayor pro tem.

Cubans Arrest Plane Hijacker

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — An alleged airplane hijacker and two priests accused of hiding him were arrested Monday at a Havana monastery, the Cuban radio said.

The broadcast, monitored in Miami, said Angel Betancourt was seized in the Roman Catholic monastery of St. Francis while mobs outside clamored for his immediate execution.

The clergymen arrested were identified as Luis Serafin Ajuaris, superior of the monastery, and Miguel A. Loreda. The religious establishment is run by the Franciscan Order.

Betancourt has been hunted since March 27 when the pilot and an armed guard of a Cuban Airlines plane were shot dead in flight aboard a plane carrying 91 persons. The plane landed at Havana despite the hijacker's demand that it make for Miami.

A dozen persons, in addition to the two priests, were arrested on charges of helping Betancourt hijack the plane or elude police afterward.

Neon Gas To Aid Deep Sea Divers

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Neon gas, the same stuff that lights the signs, looks like a new and superior breathing gas for divers in man's intensifying attempts to tap the secrets and natural treasures of the ocean bottom, it was reported today.

Test-divers who recited Lincoln's Gettysburg address at a simulated depth of 650 feet have helped demonstrate the seeming superiority of neon over both ordinary air and helium as the life-support gas of deep sea explorers, a scientist said. Both gases are mixed with oxygen for breathing.

Dr. Heinz R. Schreiner of Ocean Systems, Inc., of Tonawanda, N.Y., the largest diving firm in the Western Hemisphere, told about it in a report prepared for the 50th convention of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology.

"In fact, the parallel is so striking that veteran divers speak only half-jokingly of 'martini's law,' which holds that the effect of every 50 feet of descent into the sea while breathing air has the same effect as one dry martini taken on an empty stomach."

Reckless Driver, 17, Sentenced To 60 Days In Jail

Thomas E. LaCasse, 17, of Escanaba Rte. 1, today began serving 60 days in the Delta County jail for a traffic law violation. The youth has a long record of offenses. Municipal Court was informed by Escanaba police.

Police arrested LaCasse Monday night after pursuing him in the patrol car and on foot.

Officers reported that LaCasse drove at speeds up to 55 miles an hour in the 1200 and 1300 block, Ludington St., skidded around into S. 12th St., narrowly missing a young boy on the crosswalk, and then abandoned his car and ran away.

Besides the charge of reckless driving, LaCasse was issued a summons for improper registration and no operator's license.

The science meeting is one of the world's biggest, with 20,000 researchers expected.

Dr. Schreiner described tests of the gas in a manned laboratory chamber "submerged" to depths equivalent to those at the limits of the continental shelf. He said they indicated:

1. Neon appears free of the dangerous narcotic effect which ordinary air can have on divers, due to air's nitrogen content — an insidious effect sometimes called "rapture of the depths."

"Nitrogen narcosis is a danger," the scientist said, "and frequently does have serious and sometimes deadly consequences. It is characterized by euphoria, abdication of responsibility, confusion, and other abnormalities seen in individuals under the influence of alcohol."

2. In an atmosphere consisting essentially of neon gas, the speech of divers is much more intelligible to their mates on the ocean bottom — and the listeners above — than it is in an atmosphere of helium.

Roland Swartz, captain of the L'Anse team that captured the state Class C basketball crown last month, has been named most valuable player in the Copper Country Conference. He will receive the Lt. Albert Funke Jr. Memorial trophy, honoring the first soldier of Baraga County to give his life in War II. Swartz, 6 foot senior, scored 420 points this season and had been named earlier to the All-Upper Peninsula first team and the Copper Country all-conference team.

Ron Mason, recently named director of Soo Tech's new college hockey program, will be the guest speaker at the annual Sault Amateur Hockey Association banquet Wednesday night. Sault's Upper Peninsula state and national championship junior hockey teams will be honored.

Bob Staple, a former Kingsford High School athlete, scored a pair of singles victories for the Eastern Michigan University tennis team recently. Staple, a sophomore, downed Bowling Green's Bryant Evans in straight sets, 6-2, 6-0.

Another Upper Peninsula athlete, 17 year old John Holmes of Stambaugh, a Hillsopier senior, earned a gold medal in skiing at a recent Vail Standard meet in Colorado. Holmes, who will enroll at Michigan Tech next fall, was timed in 52 seconds in the men's giant slalom event.

The Twin City Softball Association of the Menominee-Marquette area has reorganized for the 1966 season with eight teams entered. Competing will be Badger Mills of Peshtigo, Hirsch's of Banat, Lu-Jerry's Tap, Felix's, Gordy's, Ray's IGA and Marquette Marine Corp. Cliff Champagne has been elected commissioner and Bob Walters financial secretary of the association.

Al Inkala, a 6 foot 5 inch junior who was named to the All-Upper Peninsula first team by sportswriters this season, has been named most valuable player on the Wakefield High School basketball team by his mates. Inkala was the Michigan-Wisconsin Conference scoring champion with 232 points and tallied 392 overall for the season and tournament games. Coach Jim Daniels awarded varsity letters to 12 players, including four seniors and eight juniors. His Cardinals fashioned a 16-4 record.

Rob Roy resigned as Copper Country commissioner on the Upper Peninsula Softball Association and a successor will be named to attend the annual spring meeting which will be held in Iron Mountain April 24. The Copper Country Softball league was reorganized recently with five of last year's eight teams joining the loop. Gordon Schaaf has been named league president, Bob Sibilsky treasurer and Chester Norlin secretary.

Judge To Give Decision Today

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Circuit Judge Elmer W. Rorer labored today in the early hours, trying to complete his decision in Wisconsin's antitrust suit against baseball with the Braves' Atlanta debut only hours away.

The white-haired judge, who is 64, would not pinpoint a time for the announcement of the verdict.

"I'm sure it will be today," Rorer said, "but as for what time I'm not making any predictions."

The Braves, who left Milwaukee after 13 seasons here, are scheduled to open at 8:05 p.m. EST, in Atlanta against the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Wisconsin has asked the judge to order the Braves to return here this season if the National League failed to agree to an expansion team for Milwaukee by today. State attorneys have conceded any order by Rorer's court could not be enforced unless it came before the Braves' first game in Atlanta.

Early today the judge was still working to complete the draft of his lengthy, complex ruling. A court aide said,

"We've got more than 100 pages now." Judge Rorer planned to finish the decision before dawn if possible, but it might be hours later before editing was completed and the decision could be copied and bound for distribution to attorneys and the press.

Rookie Named On All-Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — San Francisco's Rick Barry, Rookie of the Year in the National Basketball Association, has moved into exclusive company.

He's been chosen along with Wilt Chamberlain of Philadelphia, Jerry Lucas and Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati and Jerry West of Los Angeles on the NBA All Star team.

The voting, conducted among sports writers and broadcasters in the nine league cities, produced no unanimous choices. Robertson came closest, missing on only one of the 86 ballots cast.

Named to the second team were Bill Russell, John Havlicek and Sam Jones, all of Boston, and Philadelphia's Hal Greer and Baltimore's Gus Johnson.

Indians Win Opener As Baseball Season Swings Into Action

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer

The baseball season rolls into high gear today with six new managers, one new ball park and one new attitude on display — if the Boston Red Sox get to the ball park on time.

Actually everything should go off like clock work. The six new managers are ready, Atlanta is ready and the Red Sox have synchronized their watches.

The new timetable for the Red Sox became mandatory Monday when outfielder Carl Yastrzemski was elected the first playing captain in team history and admitted "there have been times during the past five years that I've been ashamed to wear a Red Sox uniform."

Yastrzemski took immediate steps to institute a new attitude, announcing a ban on card-playing in the clubhouse before games, and ordering all players to report on time — one of the things they occasionally failed to do last year.

Too Much Talent "If we didn't have the talent I wouldn't say anything," Yastrzemski pointed out. "But we have too much talent to waste."

"I'm sick of being a laughing stock like the New York Mets." The Mets were not laughing at the Indians-Senators game rained out. That left only the Presidential Opener at Washington, D.C. on the schedule, and the Senators and the Democrats came out on the short end of the score as Cleveland recorded a 5-2 victory.

The Mets and Reds will try to get the National League started again today, while Chicago is at San Francisco in another day game. In night action, Houston is at Los Angeles, Philadelphia at St. Louis and Pittsburgh at Atlanta for the Braves' long-awaited debut in the Deep South.

The American League has four day games scheduled — Kansas City at Minnesota, California at Chicago, Detroit at New York and Baltimore at Boston.

Don Heffner of the Reds and Wes Westrum of the Mets will make their postponed managerial debuts at Cincinnati with four other new or used field bosses ready to step on the firing line — Leo Durocher of the Cubs, Eddie Stanky of the White Sox, Grady Hatton of the Astros and Al Dark of the Athletics.

All undoubtedly are hoping to make more successful debuts than the one made by relief pitcher Hubert Humphrey at Johnson, threw out the first ball at the Indians-Senators game and LBJ's administration came up a three-time loser.

Johnson has thrown out the first ball twice, and Washington has lost each time. Humphrey extended the Democrats losing streak but not without help from the Senators, who led 2-1 on Frank Howard's homer when the Indians came up with a four-run ninth inning uprising.

Two-run singles by Vic Davalillo and Max Alvis, who collected three hits for the day, were the big blows and tagged Pete Richert with the loss. Sam McDowell got the victory with Sonny Siebert's relief help after checking the Senators on four hits and striking out nine through eight innings.

In the big ones today, the Twins and Dodgers open defense of their championships and the Braves begin their first southern campaign after a day-long series of ceremonies.

The Twins will send Jim (Mudcat) Grant, the biggest winner in the AL last year and one of the league's biggest holdouts this year, against Jim (Catfish) Hunter of Kansas City.

Roberts To Start The Dodgers will start Claude Osteen, who gets the opening assignment while holdouts Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale continue to try and catch up.

The Astros will give veteran Robin Roberts the honor of pitching his 13th opener.

At Atlanta, meanwhile, businesses and schools will be closed during the afternoon for a downtown parade, then 50,893 people are expected to march on Atlanta Stadium. Tony Cloninger will start for the Braves and Bob Veale for the Pirates.

By that time the Braves should know the result of the court trial aimed at returning the team to Milwaukee.

"We will do a lot better on the field against Pittsburgh," predicted Braves board chairman Bill Bartholomay, "than we expect to do in Wisconsin courts."

What's Next For Nicklaus?

Jack Wins Playoff For Masters Crown

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — What's next for Jack Nicklaus? The powerful Columbus, Ohio, blond slugger, given a reprieve in the form of a playoff after by his own admission blowing the Masters Golf Tournament, didn't miss Monday.

His victory in the 18-hole playoff with Tommy Jacobs and Gay Brewer added another in his list of historic Augusta accomplishments.

He became the first man to win the Masters two years in a row. He has won it three times in four years, finishing in a second-place tie the year he didn't win.

Last year he set the tournament record of 271—17 under par—and included a tournament record-equaling 64 enroute.

When he won his first Masters three years ago at 23 he became the youngest winner of the classic.

The $20,000 check he earned by shooting a playoff 70 against 72 for Jacobs and 78 for Brewer brought his official money earnings since turning professional to over $449,000.

At 26 he stands as the recognized No. 1 player in golf. And this at an age some 10 years before many players reach their peak.

Asked how long he'd continue to play tournament golf, he replied, "As long as I continue to enjoy it and have a desire to win. The two go hand-in-hand. The money hasn't a thing in the world to do with it."

He gave a hint of his next ambition by saying he planned to compete in the British Open — with a difference. This year he'll go there about 10 days early to practice for the classic. "I like to practice, anyway," he explained.

By winning the Masters he has taken the first step toward accomplishing the professional Grand Slam of golf that has eluded Arnold Palmer for so long.

The British Open, the U.S. Open and the PGA Championship round out the prestige-laden quartet he'd like to sweep.

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Texas Western Athletic Director George McCarty said time was the biggest factor regarding his football coach, Bobby Dobbs, and the West Point position.

"I'm going on the assumption that the longer this hangs the better our chances are," said McCarty. "He hasn't made up his mind. I don't know what he'll do."

Dobbs met last weekend with Army's Athletic Director Ray Murphy and talked with him on the telephone Monday about the West Point coaching post, vacated last week when Paul Dietzel resigned and became the South Carolina football coach.

"We're negotiating," said Dobbs about the telephone call. A spokesman at West Point, N.Y., said Monday night, "Ray Murphy will be in his office Tuesday and may make a decision at that time."

Time also seemed to be an important factor at West Point because spring training starts Saturday.

Action Tonight In Stanley Cup Playoff Series

By The Associated Press

Punch Imlach, stuffed head and all, is expected to be back behind the Toronto bench tonight when the Maple Leafs host the Montreal Canadiens in the third game of their National Hockey League Stanley Cup playoff.

And while Imlach tries to guide the Leafs to their first victory, Detroit Manager-Coach Sid Abel gives his chase and check defense another shot at the Chicago Black Hawks in the third game of their semifinal series.

The Leafs are down 2-0 after dropping the first two games at Montreal but Imlach, recovering from a bout with the flu, isn't worried.

"I don't like where I am," said Punch, "but I intend to remedy it. There's no problem. We did it before, we'll do it again."

Imlach said his head felt a little stuffed from the flu but he'll coach tonight.

Veteran Johnny Bower, also recovering from the flu, will be back in goal for Toronto. Terry Sawchuk played both games in Montreal.

Abel, happy with the 1-1 standoff the Wings got in their two games at Chicago, gave Detroit some time off to rest up for tonight's third game.

"After playing 15 or so exhibition games and 70 during the regular season, I don't think anything can be gained by skating between games," Abel said. "If you don't know what it's all about by now, you're in bad shape."

The Wings did a tenacious checking job on the Black Hawks in Chicago and it paid off with five straight periods of shutout hockey. Now Abel hopes his club can keep it up on Detroit ice.

Chicago Coach Billy Reay, whose club took a 7-0 shellacking Sunday, said he planned no changes for tonight's game.

Kansas City Buys Jimenez

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Outfielder Manny Jimenez was added to the roster of the Kansas City Athletics, and 14 players were assigned to minor league teams today.

Jimenez was purchased from the Mobile roster in the Southern League. To make room for the left-handed hitting outfielder, pitcher Don Buschhorn was assigned outright to Modesto of the California League.

Only Fighter To Beat Him Wants Rematch With Clay

By DAVE BURGIN

MEDINA, Ohio — (NEA) — When Pete Rademacher and then Amos Johnson came to Medina, of all places, 8,000 townsfolk wondered if their prize-winning real estate developer, Ed Mears, was helping the underworld relocate.

Why, they asked, was a fine-upstanding man like Mears bringing in boxing people?

It didn't matter much that Rademacher was a college man and considered clean during his boxing career, or that Johnson spent six years in the Marine Corps and once whipped Cassius Clay.

Boxing was overrun by bad money and big-mouths and a clean-cut community like Medina was, at best, skeptical. But "things change," Ed Mears said, "even in a small town."

Now Rademacher, once employed by Mears, is a deacon in the Episcopal church and people in Medina say he probably could be elected mayor if he wanted to give up a lucrative job selling sports equipment.

And Johnson, 27, a heavy-weight who argues that he is good enough to be world champion, is nearly as popular as Medina's No. 1 citizen, Ohio's Lieutenant Governor John Brown.

"This town's full of boxing fans now," said a cop, lounging in his patrol car parked on the town square, "but only when it comes to Amos Johnson."

"Here's a guy loaded with talent and he can't get a chance to prove it. Always knew people who run boxing are sick. It's a shame for Amos," the cop said.

People in Medina don't grow up learning that a man's talents will deter his chances for advancement. They believe in Amos Johnson, and boxing's old story of the guy who is too good to get a decent fight makes the subject a bitter one in a Medina barber shop.

"Why does it have to be this way?" said Ed Mears, who is Johnson's employer, adviser and manager. "I guess maybe that's being naive."

"I always wanted to get into boxing — don't ask me why — and I figured what I wanted and what boxing could use more of was an honest, clean-living, hard-working kid who loved the sport."

"Well, that's just what Amos is," Mears said, "and now I can't even get him a fight with a bum, let alone a ranked heavyweight."

"Maybe I should have Amos go out and mug an old lady or slug a cop. No. Lack of publicity is not the worst problem. The problem is that the word is out in boxing that Amos is too tough, too risky for their careers," Mears continued.

"I am willing to pay. I have offered Liston, Chivalo, Machen, Frazier, Ali and Doug Jones twice what they're worth, but they just don't want to fight Amos."

Johnson's pro record is 21-2-1. He clobbered the two men he lost to — Billy Joiner and Chip Johnson — in return matches. The draw was against European champion Karl Mildenberger in Berlin.

Johnson's most notable pro accomplishment was a decision last October over then fourth-ranked Henry Cooper in London.

"We could have easily taken Cooper out," Mears said. "But we figured we'd better not because it might scare everyone back in the States. Amos decked trials. It's Clay's only loss. "I beat him pretty good," said Johnson, who went on to win the Pan-Am Games Gold Medal.

After that Johnson got out of the Marines and turned pro. He was fighting little and eating less. A year later, about the time Clay was winning an Olympic Gold Medal, Johnson was back in the Marine Corps.

"Turning pro too soon is where I made my mistake," Johnson said. "There's no reason why I couldn't have won Clay's medal, which might have helped my career some."

Until Mears can find him another fight, Johnson will continue morning workouts in a converted garage on the outskirts of Medina. Then in the afternoons Johnson does odd jobs for Mears and townspeople.

He carries his equipment, a lawnmower or a shovel, in the trunk of his car, a shiny new Cadillac Mears leased for him as a reward for beating Cooper. Johnson will drive up in his Caddy, take out his shovel and start to work.

"I don't like it but I gotta eat," he said.

Tall Antennas Won't Pull In Tiger Games

DETROIT (AP) — Persons who purchased large TV antennas to bring in stations telecasting Detroit Lions home games in past years will fare no better than the average football fan this season.

Neighborhood bars which attracted large Sunday crowds by advertising these games likewise will be unable to offer anything more than will be seen on other sets in the area.

The game will not involve the Lions.

The Lions, who protested the invasion of their TV territory in the past, had nothing to do with the move. It comes as a result of the two-year contract between CBS and the NFL.

Detroit's WJBK-TV likewise will carry the "Game of the Day" when the Lions are at home.

Both the Detroit and Lansing stations will telecast Lions road games.

The Lions twice commissioned market surveys to show just what penetration the Lansing station was making in this area.

A 1958 survey showed penetration was negligible, but the Lions declined to make their findings public after a survey in 1962.

Lions home attendance, however, did not fall off noticeably in any of the seasons that the Lansing station beamed games into the Detroit area.

Coach Dolph Schayes still feels his Philadelphia 76ers will "come out roaring" as they try to fight off elimination in the National Basketball Association Eastern playoff tonight against the Boston Celtics.

"Time is running out," Schayes said Monday as he watched the 76ers in an hour-long practice. "But the fact that we're one defeat away doesn't mean anything."

"This is the type of club that doesn't get down because of a heart-breaking loss."

Philadelphia, trailing Boston 3-1 in the best-of-seven series, must win its next three games to advance to the final round.

A Boston victory will close out the Eastern series.

There's probably a good reason for Schayes' outlook for this game. Boston hasn't won on the Convention Hall floor since December, 1964, including five games this season.

In the Western Division final playoff, St. Louis, trailing Los Angeles 3-2 in a best-of-seven series, faces the Lakers Wednesday night on the Hawks' court.

The Hawks stayed alive by defeating the Lakers 112-100 Sunday night in Los Angeles. Now the determined Hawks must take the next two to keep going.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — The Richmond, Va. Charioteers downed the Detroit Sparks 58-45 and 44-36 Monday in the 18th annual national Wheelchair Basketball Tournament eliminations. The tournament begins Wednesday.

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Harold Worst of Grand Rapids, Mich., defeated Robert Woods of Los Angeles 150-137 Monday in the World's Invitational Pocket Billiards Championships.

EAST LANSING (AP) — The Michigan State golf and tennis teams swing into regular season action this weekend. The golf team will be at Ohio State Saturday for a quadrangular meet with Ohio State, Purdue and Indiana. The tennis team will meet Minnesota and Michigan at Ann Arbor Friday and Saturday.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

Ford Southpaw, Dressen Names Lefty To Start

NEW YORK (AP) — It appears Denny McLain will have to wait another year to get an opening day assignment for the Detroit Tigers.

McLain, the club's top pitcher in 1965 with a 16-6 record, took a back seat to lefthander Mickey Lolich when the New York Yankees announced Whitey Ford would open for them today.

Manager Charlie Dressen had McLain down if the Yankees picked righthander Mel Stottlemyre.

Dressen's thinking in switching to Lolich is that Ford is another reasonably good left-handed hitter in a lineup loaded on that side of the plate.

Lolich was 15-9 last season, including a 6-2 decision over Kansas City in the opening game of the season.

Dressen intends to start Bill Monbouquette in the second game with McLain or Hank Aguirre going in the final game of the New York series.

Joe Sparna, originally down for one of the three games in New York—he's beaten the Yankees five times in as many decisions—lost his chance when he was battered in Oklahoma City Sunday.

"We can't start Sparna, the way he's going," was Dressen's remark after the Tigers dropped their eighth straight game in closing out the exhibition season.

McLain said a few weeks ago that the opening day assignment should go to the pitcher who had the best record the previous year, not to the one who looked best in spring training.

McLain's earned run average during the Grapefruit League season was 5.56. Lolich, at 5.14, wasn't much better.

The Tigers open the home season against Washington Friday. Dressen says he'll wait to see what happens in New York before deciding on the pitchers for the three-game home stay.

How can we sell a 10¢ cigar for 6¢?

It's no secret. We make more cigars of one brand than anyone and spend only a fraction for advertising. Still, sometimes we wish we could spend more advertising this fine cigar value. But we'd have to raise our price or cut our quality. Then, we might not sell as many. What do you think?

EINAR ERLANDSEN (D-Escanaba), Senator Thomas F. Schweigert, (R-Petoskey) and Gov. George Romney at the signing of the Mackinac Bridge Bill. A joint statement by Erlandson, sponsor of the bill, and Schweigert, who guided the bill through the Senate, says that, "The bill allows refinancing of the Mackinac Bridge Bonds at such time as interest rates are favorable enough to bring about a meaningful toll reduction. Although bond markets are not favorable at this time, the legislation permits the State Administrative Board to act when conditions change."

Taxes Exceed Grants-In-Aid

NEW YORK (AP)—Michigan paid more federal taxes to finance government aid programs last year than it got back in grants from the programs, Tax Foundation Inc. reports.

The New York research firm said Michigan paid an estimated $1.35 toward aid programs for every $1 it got in grants in 1965.

It estimated Michigan paid $481.3 million to finance the federal grants and got back $354.6 million.

Michigan was one of 18 states that paid more than it got back.

Some states, such as Alaska, paid 15 cents for each $1 in aid returned while others, such as New Jersey, paid $1.87 for each $1.

Auto Builders' 6 Millionth Car Due Wednesday

DETROIT (AP)—U. S. auto makers are expected to speed production lines this week to make up for sharp losses caused by the recent railroad strike and the Good Friday holiday.

Output dropped last week—a four-day week—to 145,787, lowest in nearly seven months. In the preceding week, when the railroad strike began, the industry assembled 195,157 automobiles.

Despite the production slump, the industry is scheduled to set another record this week.

The six-millionth 1966 model will roll off an assembly line sometime Wednesday, 14 days earlier than ever before. The old mark of April 27 was established in the 1965 model run.

Through last week, the industry had turned out 5,887,612 '66 models. At the same point a year ago, the output was 5,586,984.

Rock

The Rock 4-H club will meet at the Lions clubhouse on Wednesday April 13, after school, instead of in the evening. All members wishing to join for summer projects should attend this meeting. New officers will be elected. Projects which may be available are photography, outdoor meals, foods, vegetable and flower gardening, rocks, entomology, and conservation. Anyone who will be 10 years old by Sept. 30, may join at this time.

The Thursday National League at Rock will not bowl Thursday evening. Instead, the league will bowl on Friday evening, April 15.

The National and Northern men's leagues, will conclude the seasons bowling with a sweepstake on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, April 20-21.

C&H Stock Rush Delays Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—Trading in stock of Calumet & Hecla, Inc., was delayed again Monday on the New York Stock Exchange. The delay began last Thursday because of an influx of orders. Specialists were unable to set bid and asked prices.

The influx of orders followed an announcement by the company of an ore find in Michigan.

The stock was last traded Wednesday at $38.50 a share.

Copper Want Hits Industry

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Dwindling copper supplies have forced some Houston industrial firms to turn down orders and the shortage has "all but stopped" production at some plants, the Houston Post says.

The shortage is affecting both large and small copper users and may continue for months, the Post said its survey showed.

Lacy Wingfield, president of Triangle Engineers, a metal fabricating firm, said his company has not received copper ordered from Belgium more than a year ago. Most deliveries from U.S. firms are about six months behind, he said.

Ray Hess, manager of Universal Wire & Cable Co., said most copper orders take at least 240 days.

Houston users gave these reasons:

The copper industry has been successful in raising prices and demand for the metal, boosted by its importance in the electronics field, has exceeded production.

—Accelerating use of copper in the Viet Nam war has further tightened the U.S. supply.

—Strikes at major copper mines in Chile.

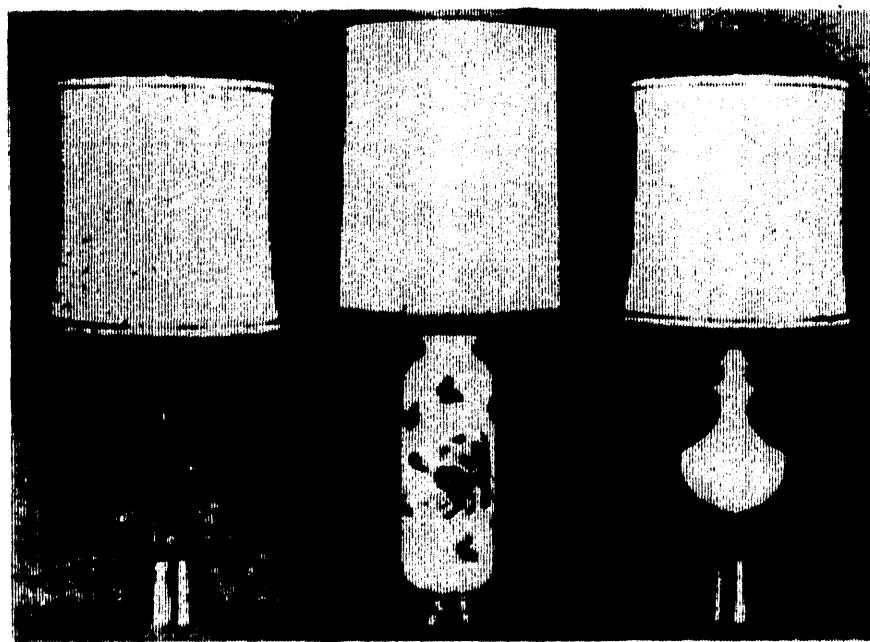

Warn Gardeners

LANSING (AP)—The Agriculture Department warned gardeners this week to beware of unscrupulous nursery salesmen who take advantage of the spring planting and gardening mood.

Most local nurserymen are reputable, the department said. But it warned of extravagant claims made for plants and shrubs by "a tiny fraction" of sellers.

Dale Ball, state agriculture director, said persons who solicit sales of nursery stock are required to carry an agent's permit.
